BIOGRAPHY

Moonshine Rebels combine folk music with high production values to achieve a finely crafted sound.

Proving that a niche genre can be brought into the 21st Century, revitalised for a wider audience, yet remaining true to its roots.

Multi-instrumentalists Paul Sudlow & Sam McGrady are the craftsmen, writing and arranging each song to perfection, as well as playing the majority of instruments.

They are also joined by musicians that add their own unique skills to the mix, to then be nurtured and shaped by producer Paul Hutchinson.

Paul and Sam are both founder members of Run Out The Guns an electro/acoustic band from Manchester, who's repertoire is influenced by Celtic tradition, folk songs and a love of authentic, real music. Both have been involved in playing music for many years, professionally and for the sheer enjoyment of writing and performing.

RADIO AIRPLAY TRACKS

Bonnies Cafe Bar tells the bittersweet tale of the loneliness and friendships of the everyday barfly..

Varley Street - A modern portrayal of life on the bottom line, trying to survive each day as it comes.

Bonnie Banks Of Fordie - An intricate murder ballad which takes you on a journey of an innocent walk that quickly descends into darkness with a twist like no other.

Eighty Shillin' is a tour de force of an instrumental, mixing traditional style Celtic tunes and instruments with modern day production to create a unique sound.
